

Bitte beachten Sie: Dieses Dokument wurde automatisch erstellt und ist kein Ersatz für das Originaldokument des Herstellers.

Product Datasheet

Anti-S-100 (beta-subunit) Monoclonal Antibody (Clone: SH-B1), Clone: [SH-B1], Mouse ABI-39-1050

|                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|--------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Artikelname              | Anti-S-100 (beta-subunit) Monoclonal Antibody (Clone: SH-B1), Clone: [SH-B1], Mouse                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Artikelnummer            | ABI-39-1050                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Hersteller Artikelnummer | 39-1050                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Alternativnummer         | ABI-39-1050-100UG/VIAL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Hersteller               | Abeomics                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Wirt                     | Mouse                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Kategorie                | Antikörper                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Applikation              | IHC-P                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Spezies Reaktivität      | Human                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Immunogen                | Bovine brain S-100b.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Produktbeschreibung      | S100 protein is a 21,000-Da component first isolated from brain by Moore(1965). Immunocytochemical studies demonstrated that S100 protein is produced by a wide variety of normal and neoplastic cells of mesodermal, neuroectodermal, and epithelial orig... |
| Klonalität               | Monoclonal                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Klon-Bezeichnung         | [SH-B1]                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| NCBI                     | 25742                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| UniProt                  | P04631                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

|                        |                                                            |
|------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|
| Reinheit               | Ascites                                                    |
| Target-Kategorie       | Protein S100-B                                             |
| Application Verdünnung | Immunohistochemistry(Paraffin-embedded Section) : 1-2µg/ml |